Order IX-A CPC. Case Management and Scheduling Conference¹

1. Case management and scheduling conference. — (1) The Court, after completion of pleadings, may call for case management and scheduling conference and pass appropriate order for the following purposes, namely:-

- (i) expeditious disposal of the cases;²
- (ii) establishing an early and continuing control of the court over the case, so that it cannot be delayed because of lack of management;³
- (iii) discouraging wasteful pre-trial activities;⁴
- (iv) improving the quality of litigation through more thorough preparation of the case by the parties and their counsel;⁵
- (v) encouraging the parties to cooperate with each other in conducting the court proceedings;⁶
- (vi) fixing time schedules or otherwise controlling progress of the case;⁷
- (vii) facilitating settlements and encouraging parties to use alternate dispute resolution's (ADR) procedures in accordance with the Alternative Dispute Resolution Act, 2017 (XX of 2017) or such other law for the time being in force;⁸
- (viii) giving directions to ensure that a case proceeds quickly and efficiently;⁹

¹ Rule 16 of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure USA provides the concept of "Pre-Trial Case Management and Scheduling Conference". In Federal Courts of USA, Rule-16 has served as the most affective instrument of Case Management, and has resulted in expeditious disposal of cases. Even in United Kingdom (UK), the Woolf Report on "Access to Justice" recommended for active "Case Management" and in this regard, 1.4(1) of Civil Procedure Code 1998 of England and Wales, assigns duty to the courts to actively manage cases. Accordingly, on the basis of such recommendations of the Woolf Report, the entire CPR, 1998 was moduled to actively employ the concepts of Case Management broadly enumerated under 1.4(1) of CPR to establish a "Managed System of Dispute Resolution"

³ Rule 16(a)(2) Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, USA.

⁴ Rule 16(a)(3) Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, USA.

⁵ Rule 16(a)(4) Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, USA.

⁶ Rule 1.4(2)(a) Civil Procedure Rules, England and Wales, 1998. Active case management includes encouraging the parties to cooperate with each other in the conduct of proceedings.

⁸ Rule 2(e) Civil Procedure Rules, England and Wales, 1998. Further see Rule 16(a)(5) Federal Rules of Civil Procedures, USA.

⁹ Rule 2(f) Civil Procedure Rules, England and Wales 1998. Active Case Management includes the court giving directions to ensure that a case proceeds quickly and efficiently.

- (ix) dealing with as many aspects of the case as is possible on the same occasion;¹⁰ and
- (x) for facilitation of the parties, if so required, seeking consultation of the parties or their counsel in the case management and scheduling conference through telephone, email, video conferencing or other technologies;¹¹

Provided that in case the Court does not call for such conference, it shall be bound to record reasons for not doing so. No party or its counsel can opt to exclude itself from a case management and scheduling conference fixed by the Court.

(2) Before conducting any case management and scheduling conference under sub-rule (1) and not later than seven days after completion of pleadings, the Court shall require parties to the suit to file their respective case management statements on the format as set out in Form No.13 in Appendix C of the First Schedule to the Code and share a copy of the same with the opposite party.

2. Management and disposal of miscellaneous applications¹². — (1) The Court, subject to case management statements filed by the parties, shall manage the miscellaneous applications arising out of the suit, in the following manner, namely:-

- (a) the court, after consultation with the parties or their counsel, shall fix the following three dates, namely: -

¹⁰ Rule 2(l) Civil Procedure Rules, England and Wales, 1998. According to this module, the parties to a case and the judges should not deal with several aspects of a case on "successive occasions", rather, they should deal with them on one "occasion". In this context, the "Case Management and Scheduling Conference" operates as a "work station" which has the agility to manage many proceedings collectively and at the same time.

¹¹ This concept is taken from Rule 16(b) Federal rules of Civil Procedure USA, and 1.4(j)(k) of Civil Procedure Rules England and Wales, 1998.

¹² This concept is derived from Rule 16(b)(c)(3) of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure USA, wherein, the scheduling order must limit the time to join other parties, amend the pleadings, complete discovery, and file motions. Based on this concept, section 9-A was introduced in Civil Procedure Code, 1908 on 02.10.2001 in the following manner: -

9-A. Intermediate Dates

1. Fixation of Intermediate dates. After the close of the pleadings, the court shall fix:

- (a) a day by which parties shall apply for orders of the court with regard to any of the following matters, namely,
Pleadings, further and better particulars, admission, discoveries, inspection of documents or of movable property and the mode by which particular facts may be proved;
- (b) another day by which parties may reply such applications; and
- (c) a third day of which, unless the hearing is adjourned, the applications shall be disposed of.

Although 9-A CPC was introduced in the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 as a module of Case Management, yet on account of its weak conceptual understanding and poor legislative drafting, this provision was barely exercised in the courts since its birth. Even, the 60th report of Law Commission of Pakistan at page-149 acknowledges the importance of this provision in the following words:-

"4. By addition of Order IX-A in the code a new and very important concept of case management has been introduced which is generally followed in developed countries to check belated complication of suits and to rectify faults at initial stage of hearing"

- (a) the court, after consultation with the parties or their counsel, shall fix the following three dates, namely:—
- (i) a date by which the parties shall file application mentioned in their case management statements and shall provide copies of such application to the other parties, as the case may be;
 - (ii) a date by which the parties shall file written replies to such application, and shall give copies of written replies to the opposite parties; and
 - (iii) a date by which the applications shall be disposed of.
- (b) no opportunity shall be provided to any party for filing any such applications, if the party opts not to file such applications, or reply thereto, after exhausting the opportunity provided under clause (a);
- (c) if it is not convenient to decide all the applications collectively, the Court may decide them separately by making a fixed schedule for their disposal, subject to the provisions of clause (a):

Provided that these clauses shall not bar a party to file an application for amendment of pleadings, if in the course of trial or other proceedings it becomes imperative to amend the suit for determining real question in controversy between the parties as mandated under Order VI, rule 17.

3. Discovery management. — The Court, in accordance with the nature of the litigation and case management statements filed by the parties, shall fix a time schedule for employing all or any modes as specified in Orders X, XI, XII and XIII of the Code for effecting required discovery.

4. Trial management.¹³ — If the case is not summarily decided under Order XV-A of the Code and is fixed for trial, then the Court in consultation with the parties or their counsel, as the case may be, keeping in view the case management statements filed by the parties, shall establish a time schedule for

- (a) presenting and exchanging the list of witnesses, which the parties intend to produce in the Court, either to give evidence or produce documents, on the format as set out in Forms 20 and 21 in Appendix B of the First Schedule to the Code;
- (b) procuring certificates of readiness from the parties to produce their evidence in the Court, on the format as set out in Form 22 in Appendix B of the First Schedule to the Code;
- (c) recording of evidence, cross-examination including re-examination with the permission of the Court;
- (d) filing of written arguments after closing of evidence (optional); and
- (e) hearing of final arguments.

¹³ This concept is taken from Rule-16(c)(7) and (d) of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure, USA, whereby, Case Management and Scheduling Conference is used for identifying witnesses and documents, scheduling the filing and exchange of any pre-trial brief, and setting dates for further conferences and for trial. In Civil Procedure Code, 1908, parties present their list of witnesses under Order XVI Rule 1 and the list of documentary evidence, which they intend to rely upon under Order XIII Rule 2 of Civil Procedure Code, 1908.

5. Penalty for default in case management'' — If a party or its counsel fails to appear at a case management and scheduling conference, or fails to file its case management statement, or is substantially unprepared to participate, or does not participate in good faith in the conference, or fails to obey a case management and scheduling order, the Court, in addition to any other penalty under this Code, shall order the party to pay such cost in accordance with Order LIII of the Code, as is appropriate, unless such non-compliance was substantially justified or other circumstances made an award of cost unjust. If the non-attendance of a party or its counsel is justified, the Court may give a final adjournment, and may modify the schedule for the date fixed:

Provided that the Court is bound to record reasons in writing to justify such modification.
